But these evidences of your kindness are in feeling and in opinious.

We shall learn some of these days that almade the more enduring when I recollect it was stated by your worthy Governor, in the letter of invitation, and in the course of his eloquent address of to-day, that the object in view is to cause a more intimate and friendly intercourse between the different States of this Union.

Governor Powell, you refer to the invitation extended to Governor Crittenden to visit our State in 1850, and have alluded to me in connection therewith. That invitation, sir, came from State attending to its municipal government.

It was peculiarly appropriate, in the dark hour of our country's history, when the tempest of disunion frowned in the political horizon, that the people of two States like Kentucky and Indiana, differing in that this Union consists of something more than their institutions, should meet together, smoke iron mills and factories in the North, and cotthe pipe of peace, and pledge themselves to the ton bales and sugar farms in the South.

From the earliest period in the history of our respective States, the kindest feeling has existed between them. It had its origin in the common dangers, toils, and difficulties incident to frontier settlements, as well as in geographical contiguity. It has been preserved by each faithfully ing a universal acknowledgment of respect. As one of the representatives of Indiana, I am fulfilling its constitutional obligations to the other. It is now hallowed by the sacred memories of the past. It is upon the observance of good faith between the States, that the Union is sisterhood of States, and in making this tender. be preserved in its purity and strength. Scorr, one of the first Governors of Kentucky, commissioned William Henry Harrison, Governor of the Indiana Territory, Major General of the Militia of Kentucky, and that Governor Harrison visited the Capital of Kentucky, and received the commission from the hands of the Governor of this Commonwealth.

There is a community of interest between the people of Kentucky and Indiana, and in fact between the whole North west, South, and South-west. Our associations, commerce and rade, must make us more and more united feeling and sentiment. Kentucky is now within ten hours' travel of ports upon the inland seas of the north. I ardently hope that the citizens of Kentucky and Indiana will ever retain the proud distinction they now enjoy, of living as a people foremost in sustaining the rights due to each other, and regarding and faithfully fulfilling the obligations that they owe to each member of this confederacy of brothers. It is true that the government of the United States is not perfect, but man has established none, better—none so good. Through the lished none, better—none so good. Through the many centuries of the Past and among the restless nations of the Present, and over the habitable globe, wherever man has made a home, we may search in vain for a political confederation more free, and better adapted, in its practi-cal operations, to raise the whole human family to the highest attainable condition of virtue ity, and safety. The hand of an overruling and unseen Providence is visible in the unexampled blessings which are scattered all round us. A nation of freemen, stretching from ocean to ocean, from State to State, embracing free thought, free religion, free Bible, schools, homes churches, libraries, and asylums!

The truth is, we always find our neighbors better upon acquaintance; the worst of all neighbors are those with whom we have no intercourse. Strife and bitterness are always the characteristics of those who communicate little with each other; harmony and brotherly kindness are ever incident to frequent and hearty interchange of sentiments and feelings I have always admired that trait in the chara ter of the Patriarch Abraham which induced him to contend with the angel of the Lord that there were many godly men among the Sodom ites. Abraham had faith in his neighbors. Kentucky has not as many precious metals in some of the other members of the confederacy but if Lazarus was poor, [alluding to the firs name of Gov. Powell] yet Kentuchy is rich in the valor, strength, and integrity of her sons, and in the virtue and beauty of her daughters. Above all, she is rich in the universally acknowledged characteristic of her people, that they love th whole Union; every inch and foot of territory of this wide-spread Republic is alike to the Kentuckian. If there be upon this green earth a place where the sentiment of the poet is peculiarly appropriate, Kentucky is that spot: "What State propri ate, Kentucky is that spot: "What State would fall, what Empire decay, if man's noisy patriotism were as pure as the silent loyalty of woman's love and devotion."

THE BRITISH QUARTERLIES BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., Continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, &c.

The London Quarterly Review, Conservative The Edinburgh Review, Whig.

The North British Review, Free Church.

The Westminster Review, Liberal. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, Tory.

Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, Tory.

The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news items, crude speculations, and the flying rumors of the daily Journals and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the bands of subscribers about as soon as they can be furnished with the foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as herefore, viz:

DR. URBAN'S VEGETABLE FEVER AND AGUE POWDERS:

The only sure remedy ever known for Chills and Fever, and warranted to cure, in all cases, if taken according to directions.

It cures, when taken according to directions, in TWENTY MINUTES, leaving no Fever after the Chill, very seldom requiring more than ONE DOSE, to make a PERMANENT GURE. A great number of cases, from twenty five years standing, have been CURED with the FIRST DOSE, and the Chill has never, as yet returned. The beauty of this medicine is, that it stops the Chill in TWENTY MINUTES, or less, and the patient will be entirely clear from Fever after the Chill, which is not the case when any other medicine is used. It has superseded all other preparatious wherever it has been introduced. Read what the Editors of the Louisville Democrat asy from their own observation:

"Dr. Urban's medicine for the cure of chills and fever has effected some wonderful cures in our own midst. A young man who has resided for several years in Louisiana, reached New Albany a few weeks since, weak and emaciated—literally worn out physically, with long continued chills and fever. He made a short stay at the house of Judge Smith, where his old disease continued with no less severity than at home in Louisiana. Having exhausted almost every remedy known to the medical profession, he procured a box of Br. Urban's celebrated medicine, and after taking two powders was entirely relieved and restored to health. He has been well ever since—says his health has not been as good for several years, and is now fast regaining his former vigor and the rosy checks he was wont to wear.

This medicine can be had at the manufacturers' Depot 65 Third Street, between Main and Market, Louisville, Kentucky, wholesale and retail.

BARTLETT'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE, Northwest Corner of Fourth and Walnut streets

Cincinnati, Ohio.

The oject of this Institution (the oldest of the kind in the United States) is to impart a thorough knowledge of Double Entry Book-Keeping, Commercial Calculations, &c., as adopted to all the different branches of trade, embracing Eusiness Forms and Business Books of every description. No particular system is adhered to as in other Institutions, but all the different methods and forms of keeping Books, are explained in such a manner as to enable those who complete a thorough course to understand and manage, on scientific principles, Business Books of every description, it matters not how they may have been previously kept. The system of instruction is one suggested by long experience in business and teaching, and is such as to introduce all the different varieties of transactions, and the parties to the same, before the student, in such a manner as to make them appear the same as actual business transactions performed by the student himself; thereby rendering the instruction eminently practical.

The knowledge that may be acquired at this Institution. Cincinnati, Ohio.

The knowledge that may be acquired at this Institution in from 8 to 12 weeks, by proper application, is of more value and practical use, than any other branch of education; and the graduate is better qualified for the post of accountant, than those who acquire their knowledge in business houses; which business men now begin to see and acknowledge.

Instruction is in all cases given individually, enabling students to enter at any time without detriment.
